PROFESSIONAL SUMMARY

I am a social scientist and statistician with experience designing, managing, and leading research and evaluation portfolios with academic, government, and nonprofit stakeholders across a range of areas focused on improving lives. I excel at research dissemination and have communicated results and recommendations to audiences with a range of technical sophistication.

SKILLS

Quantitative Longitudinal Data Analysis, Hierarchical Models, Spatial Statistics, Bayesian Methodologies

Qualitative: Focus Groups, Interviews, Content Analysis, and Case Studies

Programming: R (9 years) | SQL (4 years) | Stan (4 years)

PROFESSIONAL EXPERIENCE

US Citizenship and Immigration Services, Department of Homeland Security

Camp Springs, MD

Social Science Analyst (full-time)

August 2024 – Present

As a social scientist in USCIS's Policy Research and Evaluation Division I led retrospective and prospective studies of policy changes within the US immigration system. Among others, I worked with large and complex administrative data, and teams with diverse backgrounds, to evaluate changes to work authorization and the civics naturalization exam. I disseminated results in papers and briefed agency leadership on study findings.

BeVera Solutions

Atlanta, GA

Health Statistician (full-time)

Sept. 2022 – August 2024

In a client facing role as a statistician at a consulting firm I contributed to project proposals, provided statistical support and consultation, and led and managed the methodological development of studies addressing internal questions for the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention. I collaborated with CDC staff to elicit important questions, led outcome evaluations of COVID19 vaccine programs within federal agencies and studies of health equity during the nation's COVID19 vaccine roll out.

Case Western Reserve University

Cleveland, OH

Research fellow (full-time)

Aug. 2018 – June. 2022

As a research fellow with the Center on Poverty and Community Development I developed and led a research portfolio focused on novel quantitative methodologies, program evaluation, and empirical studies of the distribution of community resources using modern computational methods. I delivered technical assistance, methodological support, and consultation for a range of evaluative projects for governments and nonprofit stakeholders. I lead the analysis of process and outcome evaluations of community health and pre-kindergarten programs, and contributed to evaluation capacity building projects within regional nonprofits. I disseminated the results of these projects in academic journals and presentations to academic and external audiences.

The Institute for Public Policy and Economic Development

Wilkes-Barre, PA

Research Analyst (full-time)

July 2017 – June 2018

As a research analyst at a community based research organization I co-authored and led data analysis for funded research and evaluation projects including an analysis of the region's workforce trends using model-based projections of workforce needs, an impact evaluation of apprenticeship and early education programs using administrative data, and out-migration of college graduates using survey data. I ran focus groups as part of needs assessments for the United Way and the Area Agency on Aging. I regularly provided consultation and technical assistance to health and human service oriented nonprofits and foundations, including evaluation capacity building by developing implementation and monitoring plans.

Marywood University

Research Assistant (part-time)

Scranton, PA

January 2017 – July 2017

While completing a masters degree I provided quantitative methodological support for a case control study, with a probability sample, of behavioral interventions and expulsion rates in childcare centers across northeast Pennsylvania. I managed the study's data collection, including administrative and survey data, led data analysis and visualization.

United Way of Lackawanna, Wayne, and Pike Counties

Community Impact Intern (Part-time)

Scranton, PA

Sept. 2016 – June 2017

While completing a masters degree I worked with the region's United Way to provide technical assistance to grantees, enhancing their data capture and evaluation efforts. I analyzed educational assessments for change over time, educated partners on census products to understand the region, and developed briefs and primers for task forces focused on a range of social and health issues.

The Institute for Public Policy and Economic Development

Research Intern (Part-time)

Wilkes-Barre, PA

Dec. 2016 – June 2017

In the time between finishing my bachelors and beginning my masters degree, I worked with a community based research organization and contributed to funded research projects by collecting and analyzing survey data related to child welfare workforce development and job satisfaction, and developing literature reviews related to kindergarten truancy and the effect of the coal economy on northeast Pennsylvania.

United Neighborhood Centers of Northeast Pennsylvania

Social Work Intern (Part-time)

Scranton, PA

Dec. 2015 – June 2016

During course work for a bachelors degree I worked with a local human service agency providing case management for clients in emergency situations such as utility shut-offs, eviction, and foreclosure.

Prevention Point Philadelphia

Social Work Intern (Full-time)

Philadelphia, PA

May. 2015 – August 2015

While completing a bachelors degree I worked with a community health organization focused on harm reduction and substance use. I provided case management to a rotating caseload of 5-10 clients in a medication assisted treatment program, distributed resources for wound care and safe injection, and helped manage inventory in the syringe exchange program.
